Comments

Demonstrating focus, diligence, and independence, Ayaan is a respectful and hardworking student who approaches tasks thoughtfully and methodically. He contributes insightful ideas in class discussions and shows strong curiosity, enhancing his conceptual understanding. In IT, he serves the IT Department through community service, assisting with tasks where his skills have earned commendable recognition, and is collaborating with two peers on his Independent Project, NexaLearn, demonstrating initiative and problem-solving. Teachers note his growing confidence and solid understanding in Mathematics, with improved problem interpretation and analytical thinking. While academically strong, Ayaan is encouraged to socialize more and engage with peers, which will support his personal growth and prepare him for university life. With continued discipline, consistent practice, and greater interaction with others, Ayaan is well positioned for balanced academic and personal development.
